Kela's journey is a testament to the power of resilience and faith overcoming a turbulent past marked by addiction, incarceration, and severe trauma. She was born into a life of instability finding herself entangled in the foster care system at a young age which would lay the groundwork for the various challenges that would shape her life. From the age of 13, Kela began her cycle of being in the criminal justice system. Her adolescence was damaged by consistent brushes with the law, leading to another cycle of imprisonment and release that followed her into adulthood. She was diagnosed with several similar mental health disorders, including oppositional defiant disorder, explosive disorder, borderline personality disorder, and bipolar disorder, until she was finally diagnosed with Schizoaffective Disorder, Bipolar type.

Through the darkness of her past, Kela found solace and strength in her unwavering faith in God, and the case managers at MHID. Despite her progress, Kela has encountered setbacks along the way, but has learned how to continue living a healthy lifestyle thanks to the coping skills she has been taught by the staff at MHID. She credits both MHID and her faith as beacons of hope for her recovery journey. Through these means she has also learned self-reflection and has embarked on a path of resilience and redemption. With the guidance of the case managers she has been working with for several years, Kela learned to confront her past with courage and humility, acknowledging the harm she had caused herself and others.

Over the past decade, Kela has achieved significant milestones in her journey towards recovery. She aspires to continue her education and sobriety by obtaining her GED and pursuing a career as a drug counselor. Her desire to give back to the community reflects a deep-seated commitment to redemption and service. She is thankful for this new diversion center and hopes it will help others transition from jail, or hospitalization to a better life of resiliency. Kela emphasized how this type of center would have helped her immensely over the years.

Kela's life exemplifies the transformative power of resiliency and self-reflection in the face of adversity. She hopes her story can serve as an inspiration to others, demonstrating that with self-reflection and determination, even the darkest paths can be illuminated by the light of redemption.

Who is eligible?

Intellectual and Developmental Disability Services are available to individuals over 3 years of age who are diagnosed with an intellectual disability (IQ below 70), have a developmental disability such as a diagnosis on the Autism Spectrum, or who have certain other related conditions. Services are offered on a sliding fee scale based on insurance coverage and income. What is the goal of IDD Services? Our programs consist of a wide array of services to help individuals achieve their highest level of independence and functioning. Once determined eligible, our team of staff work with individuals and their families to identify the areas of a person's life where they want to improve their skill set and abilities. The team then identifies what services and supports a person will need to try and reach their personal goals. We then implement services based on the program the individual is in, the service availability, and find additional resources in the community.

IDD Services- 2601 Hospital Blvd. Physicians Plaza West| 361-886-4663

Intake & Assessment

Services are available for individuals ages three and older who have an intellectual disability, a developmental disability, and in some programs certain other related conditions. Intakes are conducted to screen for crisis, assess needs, and to assist with placement on statewide waiver interest lists. Once eligibility for services has been determined, the intake coordinator will assist with admission and referral to service coordination. Intake also monitors the waiver interest lists and provides bi-annual contacts to all individuals on the list to ensure they are still interested and that contact information is current. Any person not already in an IDD program who has a desire or need for any available IDD service must contact the Local Authority Intake Coordinator as eligibility must be determined and then the person will be admitted to services and assigned a service coordinator.

Determination of Intellectual Disability

A psychological assessment is conducted to determine eligibility for Local Intellectual and Developmental Disability Authority (LIDDA) and other state-funded IDD services and programs. Previous assessments may be reviewed to assist with the determination of eligibility. Intelligence testing, autism testing, assessments of adaptive functioning levels, and other testing and assessments may be conducted as needed.

Additionally, individuals who are interested in residing in Intermediate Care Facilities for Individuals with Intellectual Disabilities (ICF/IID) are assisted with determining eligibility, provided with contact information for facilities, and assisted with the admissions process. For individuals who are offered a position in either the HCS or Texas Home Living Waiver, services are provided to ensure the individual is screened for eligibility for the program and enrolled as per HHSC requirements, and in a timely manner.
